Lesson 2: There are many different forms of government. You might argue that all of them are good and all of them are evil at the same time. That is because all governments rely on human reason, which is flawed because of sin. God calls upon his people to obey those whom he has placed over them, unless those in authority command disobedience to God. In such circumstances, the child of God would choose to suffer the consequences for disobeying the government rather than rebel against God. It's going to be great! We'll meet in the church basement after both Sunday morning services. On the back table in church we have Prayers booklets for the election year, please feel free to take one.
